ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The palm oil milling industry is undergoing a period of rapid transformation, driven by rising sustainability expectations, stricter regulations, and the need for higher efficiency and innovation. In this evolving landscape, The International Palm Oil Millers Conference 2026 (POMC 2026) will bring together industry experts, millers, engineers, researchers, and business leaders to address the technological, environmental, and workforce challenges shaping the future of palm oil milling. Serving as a key platform for collaboration and knowledge exchange, POMC 2026 will highlight cutting-edge advancements in automation, green engineering, energy optimisation, waste management, and digital innovation. The conference aims to empower the milling sector to embrace sustainable practices, enhance operational excellence, and strengthen global competitiveness through shared expertise, innovation, and collective action.

CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES

- Promote innovation and operational excellence in palm oil milling
- Share global best practices in process efficiency and sustainability
- Strengthen collaboration between mill operations, R&D, and technology providers
- Encourage leadership and capacity building for mill professionals
- Carbon Reduction & Certification Standards
- Developing Future Ready Millers
